Amber Singleton becomes new executive director of Arkansas Right to Life

LITTLE ROCK – Amber Singleton has been hired as the newest executive director of Arkansas Right to Life in a unanimous vote by the organization's Board of Directors.

Singleton is a mother of nine and a member of the Board of Directors of Cornerstone Clinic for Women in Little Rock, where her husband, Ken, is a physician. She succeeds Rose Mimms, who led Arkansas Right to Life for more than 30 years. Mimms retired on Dec. 31.

Dr. Sharai Amaya, board president of Arkansas Right to Life, expressed gratitude to Mimms in welcoming Singleton to her new role.

“Rose was a transformative leader of Arkansas Right to Life, and was key to making Arkansas a leader in the pro-life movement,” said Amaya. “Her tireless efforts over the years culminated helping pass many pro-life laws and Arkansas being named the No. 1 Pro-Life State in the Nation for six consecutive years beginning in 2020.”

Amaya added, “The Arkansas Right to Life Board of Directors is confident Amber Singleton will faithfully build on Rose’s legacy to keep Arkansas a leading proponent of life.”

Upcoming January Events

Pro-life Arkansans from across the state will come together to celebrate the state’s pro-life achievements and the ending of Roe v. Wade at the 48th Annual March for Life set for 2 p.m. Sunday, January 18, at the State Capitol in Little Rock. All are welcome to attend. For more information visit artl.org/march-for-life-2026.

Arkansas Right to Life will hold its annual fundraiser – the Bow Ties for Babies gala – on Thursday, January 22, from 6:30-8:30 p.m. at the Benton Event Center. The event features CNN conservative commentator Scott Jennings and Ambassador Sam Brownback, former Kansas Governor and U.S. Ambassador.
